A committee is a circle. We digitise the circle.

THE PROBLEM

100 million Pakistanis are invisible to money

13%

of adults have a bank account

100M

adults with NO formal financial services

12%

of committee users have LOST money to fraud

120%+

the yearly rate on the predatory loans they fall to

Without a bank account or a credit history, these people -who usually come from low income backgrounds- cannot borrow safely, save with real yield, or prove they are trustworthy to formal credit institutions. So a hard-working tailor, driver, gardener, miner, construction worker and bearer on a steady income stays officially unbankable, and in an emergency the only open door is a predatory lenders in the country.

Plan

The tool people trust which hasn't been formalised

What is a committee?

Neighbours/ community(forming word "committee") of people pool a fixed sum each month, and each month one person takes the whole pot. It runs on trust. 52 million Pakistanis use it.

Why its users stay invisible

It is a paper notebook. The promises people faithfully keep are never recorded, so a lifetime of on-time payments builds no credit at all.

Why other tries of this app failed

To digitise it, they HELD the pooled money. That pot became a fraud target or triggered a heavy banking licence. So it collapsed. Also, digital cash wallets did not exist to the scale they exist today

The real problem: the promise people already keep is invisible to the formal system and the system is inconvenient in such digital of an age.

Halqa records the committee, and never holds it

One idea: we do not move the money. We record the promise people already keep. A PURE record only model.

Money moves member to member directly, over Raast, the State Bank free instant rail.

Halqa records every settled payment in a tamper-proof double ledger. (credit and debit)

That record becomes a Credit Passport a portable financial identity a member can show a bank, an employer, or a landlord which in the future, can be directly linked to a credit bureau (TASDEEQ in Pakistan).

The fresh idea: a member already keeps their promise every month. We do not invent a new way to move money, we record a promise already kept.

- Banks & wallets

Fraud target, skeptical users.

- Notebook / khata apps

No credit history, no verifiable record.

- Custody committee apps

The model that is unreliable historically and caused fraud.

- HALQA

Credit accumulator and safe digital way for the ever exponential digital users.

4 steps to be credit visible

1

Join a committee you trust with people from your street, workplace, or family.

2

Pay your turn over Raast

one tap, instant, and free. Straight to the next member.

3

Every payment builds your Passport on time, late, or missed, each one is recorded and scored.

4

Show it, unlock formal finance

a bank, employer, or landlord can verify it instantly.

Your committees, in one place

A shared, locked turn order

The Credit Passport

Why it is buildable now. It rides Raast, which is free. And because Halqa never holds money, it needs no banking licence, only a registered company. Only real digital committee provider in Pakistan and globally.

One product, five Global Goals, with specifics

1

No Poverty

A formal credit identity for the unbanked, the first rung out of poverty and away from predatory lenders.

8

Decent Work and Growth

Financial inclusion for informal workers on a regular income: the tailor, the driver, the shopkeeper.

10

Reduced Inequalities

Replaces loans at 120 to 240 per cent a year with a tool that costs the member nothing.

5

Gender Equality

Women use committees at twice the rate of men, so women build credit first.

9

Industry and Innovation

A new digital rail purpose-built for the informal economy that banks never reached.

- Rs 4tn rotates through committees every year
- 52M participants, women at twice the male rate
- 40+ countries run the same committee, ready to copy

Members pay just Rs 50, on each installment

Institutions pay, not members: credit bureaus for the data, savings funds for a small trail, merchants to reach a verified saver.

Every honest payment should count

52 million Pakistanis already keep a promise every month. Halqa turns that promise into the first financial identity they have ever owned.

How the record becomes a credit score, safely

Settle, do not assert

A khata app only writes that a payment was promised. Halqa watches the money arrive over Raast, then records it. A settled payment is proof.

Write it twice

Every payment is a double-entry pair, so the ledger checks itself. Money is stored in whole paisa, so nothing is lost to rounding.

No pool, no fraud

Money never rests in a Halqa account, so there is no balance to misappropriate, delay, or lend. The biggest risk is removed by design.

Consent, then furnish

With the member permission, the settled history is reported to a licensed bureau, exactly as a telecom or utility already does.
